

Working and Breastfeeding Supporting Breastfeeding Makes Good Business Sense!

Women with infants & toddlers are the fastest growing segment of the US workforce

- About 61% of employed mothers have children younger than 3. ¹
- 1/4 of mothers return to work less than 2 weeks after giving birth.²
- More than 50% of moms are back in the office within 4 months of giving birth.³
- In Oklahoma, nearly 1 in 5 women who choose not to breastfeed cite returning to work/school as the reason.⁴

EMPLOYERS BENEFIT WHEN THEY SUPPORT BREASTFEEDING...

- Less staff turnover after the birth of a child
- Lower absenteeism
- Higher productivity
- Higher employee morale, satisfaction & loyalty
- Healthier workforce with fewer & lower health care costs
- A total cost savings benefit of $3 for every $1 invested⁵
- An enticing recruitment incentive
- A reputation as a company that is concerned with the welfare of its employees & their families

It's the Law!

2010 Affordable Care Act (ACA) – Breastfeeding Break Times Requirement for hourly employees <https://www.dol.gov/whd/nursingmothers/>

- Reasonable Breaks with enough time for expressing milk or nursing up to child's 1st Birthday
- A private place, not a restroom, shielded from view & intrusion
